Becky and Steve Schenck are a couple who have faced incredible adversity in their lives. But through it all, they have never lost their faith in God. Their story is an inspiration to anyone who is facing challenges in their own life.

A Lifetime of Challenges

Becky and Steve Schenck were both born into families with a strong faith in God. They met in college and married in 1978. They had two children, a boy and a girl. But their lives took a tragic turn in 1994 when their son, Matthew, was killed in a car accident at the age of 16.

Becky and Steve were devastated by Matthew's death. They could not believe that God would allow such a thing to happen to them. They questioned their faith and wondered if they could ever be happy again.

But over time, Becky and Steve began to heal. They found comfort in their faith and in the support of their family and friends. They realized that God was still with them, even in their darkest hour.

A New Beginning

In 1997, Becky and Steve founded the Matthew Schenck Foundation, a non-profit organization that provides support to families who have lost a child. The foundation has helped thousands of families to cope with their grief and to find hope for the future.

Becky and Steve have also written several books about their experiences. Their book, "Life Interrupted: The Schenck Family's Journey of Faith and Hope," tells the story of their son's death and how they found healing and hope in the midst of their grief.

Becky and Steve's story is an inspiration to anyone who is facing challenges in their own life. It is a reminder that even in the darkest of times, God is still with us and that we can find hope and healing through our faith.
