In recent years, a dangerous and divisive ideology known as "wokeness" has taken hold in our universities and society at large. This ideology, rooted in the tenets of cultural Marxism, seeks to undermine our traditional values, silence dissenting voices, and promote division and conflict. In education, wokeness manifests itself in the form of critical race theory, gender studies, and other radical theories that distort history, vilify Western civilization, and promote victimhood narratives.

The consequences of this ideological assault are dire. Our universities, once bastions of free inquiry and intellectual exploration, are now becoming echo chambers of orthodoxy, where dissenting opinions are met with hostility and ostracism. Students are being indoctrinated with a narrow and distorted worldview that promotes intolerance, identity politics, and a rejection of reason and objectivity.

A Call to Action: Defending Intellectual Freedom and Western Civilization

In the face of this unprecedented threat, it is imperative that we take action to defend our universities and our broader society from the corrosive effects of wokeness. We must stand up for intellectual freedom, promote critical thinking, and preserve the values and traditions that have made Western civilization the greatest in human history.
