

Mors De Caelis: The Combat History of the AC-130 Spectre Gunship in Vietnam and Laos

The AC-130 Spectre gunship was a fearsome weapon in the Vietnam War. It was a modified C-130 Hercules transport aircraft that had been armed with a variety of weapons, including cannons, miniguns, and bombs. The Spectre was used to provide close air support for ground troops, and it was particularly effective against enemy troops and fortifications.

Ghostriders 1968-1975: "Mors De Caelis" Combat History of the AC-130 Spectre Gunship, Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia by William Walter

★★★★☆ 4.9 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 5822 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting: Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 277 pages

The Spectre was first deployed to Vietnam in 1967, and it quickly became a valuable asset to the US military. The gunship was able to fly long distances and stay on station for extended periods of time, providing continuous fire support for ground troops. The Spectre was also able to operate in all weather conditions, making it an ideal weapon for the harsh conditions of Vietnam.

The Spectre was used in a variety of roles in Vietnam, including providing fire support for ground troops, escorting convoys, and attacking enemy targets. The gunship was also used to support search and rescue operations, and it was credited with saving the lives of many downed pilots.

The Spectre was a controversial weapon, and its use in Vietnam was criticized by some. However, there is no doubt that the gunship was a valuable asset to the US military, and it played a significant role in the Vietnam War.

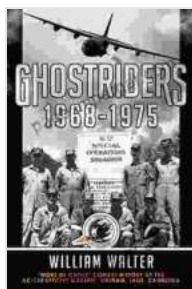

The Book

Mors De Caelis: The Combat History of the AC-130 Spectre Gunship in Vietnam and Laos is a detailed history of the Spectre gunship in the Vietnam War. The book is written by Larry Davis, a retired US Air Force colonel who flew the Spectre in Vietnam.

Davis's book is based on extensive research, including interviews with Spectre pilots and ground troops who were supported by the gunship. The book provides a detailed account of the Spectre's development, deployment, and combat operations in Vietnam and Laos.

Mors De Caelis is a fascinating and informative book that provides a unique perspective on the Vietnam War. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of the Spectre gunship or the Vietnam War.

The AC-130 Spectre gunship was a deadly weapon in the Vietnam War, and its story is told in the book Mors De Caelis. This article has provided an overview of the book and its contents. I encourage you to read the book to learn more about the Spectre gunship and its role in the Vietnam War.

Ghostriders 1968-1975: "Mors De Caelis" Combat History of the AC-130 Spectre Gunship, Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia

by William Walter

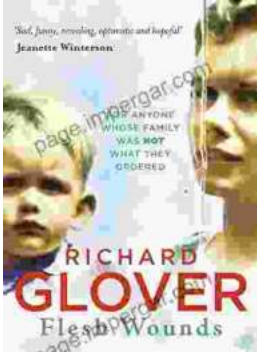

★★★★☆ 4.9 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 5822 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 277 pages

FREE

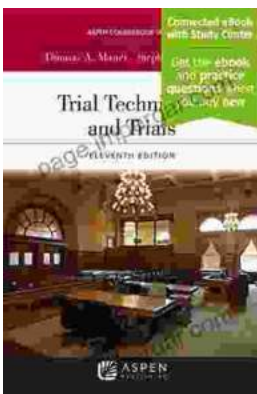

DOWNLOAD E-BOOK

"Flesh Wounds" by Richard Glover: A Provocative Exploration of Trauma, Identity, and the Human Body

In his thought-provoking and deeply moving book "Flesh Wounds," Richard Glover embarks on an unflinching exploration of the profound impact trauma can have...

Trial Techniques and Trials: Essential Knowledge for Legal Professionals

Navigating the complexities of trial law requires a deep understanding of courtroom procedures, effective trial strategies, and the ability to...